Election/Restrictions

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 133-139, drawn to applying pre-defined heuristic rules to determine inferred market characteristic and determining applicability of advertisement by correlating the inferred market characteristics with a target market characteristics, classified in class 705, subclass 14.
- II. Claims 140-145, drawn to selecting pre-defined heuristic rules based on target market and determining the applicability of advertisement by applying the heuristic rule to the consumer transaction and demographic records, classified in class 705, subclass 14.
- III. Claims 146-151, drawn to determining target market characteristics using a pre-defined heuristic rules and determining the applicability of advertisement by correlating the target market characteristic with characteristic of the consumer, classified in class 705, subclass 14.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions I and II & III are related as subcombinations disclosed as usable together in a single combination. The subcombinations are distinct if they do not overlap in scope and are not obvious variants, and if it is shown that at least one subcombination is separately usable. In the instant case, subcombination I has separate utility such as determining applicability of advertisement by correlating an inferred market characteristic with target market characteristic selected by advertiser. See MPEP § 806.05(d).

Art Unit: 3622

Inventions II and I & III are related as subcombinations disclosed as usable together in a single combination. The subcombinations are distinct if they do not overlap in scope and are not obvious variants, and if it is shown that at least one subcombination is separately usable. In the instant case, subcombination II has separate utility such as determining applicability of advertisement by applying heuristic rule to the plurality of consumer transaction record and demographic information records. See MPEP § 806.05(d).

Inventions III and I & II are related as subcombinations disclosed as usable together in a single combination. The subcombinations are distinct if they do not overlap in scope and are not obvious variants, and if it is shown that at least one subcombination is separately usable. In the instant case, subcombination III has separate utility such as determining applicability of advertisement by correlating a target market characteristic with characteristics of the consumer. See MPEP § 806.05(d).

Examiner considers that since applicant independently claim the invention of this group, it is prima facie showing that the inventions are intended to be independent and distinct and are shown to be separately usable.

The examiner has required restriction between subcombinations usable together. Where applicant elects a subcombination and claims thereto are subsequently found allowable, any claim(s) depending from or otherwise requiring all the limitations of the allowable subcombination will be examined for patentability in accordance with 37 CFR 1.104. See MPEP § 821.04(a). Applicant is advised that if any claim presented in a continuation or divisional application is anticipated by, or includes all the limitations of, a claim that is allowable in the present application, such claim may be subject to provisional statutory and/or nonstatutory double patenting rejections over the claims of the instant application.

Because these inventions are independent or distinct for the reasons given above and there would be a serious burden on the examiner if restriction is not required because the inventions require a different field of search (see MPEP § 808.02), restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To reserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the inventions or species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the inventions or species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.

Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Yehdega Retta whose telephone number is (571) 272-6723. The examiner can normally be reached on 8-4:30.
